

L'Ane: le magazine freudien is interested in social symptoms, forms of political discourse, the ideologies of social improvement, mental health and pedagogy, as well as the uncontrolled discourse of science, and cinema-as-anthropology. Publishing and mathematics also have a place; there are interviews with government ministers and marginals alike. L'Ane serves as a "mini" mass-media outlet for writings reputed to be too difficult for discussion. It is a magazine of current affairs worth collecting. Annual airmail subscription rate for four issues in the USA and Canada: 230FF.

Ornicar? Established in 1975 at the Department of Psychoanalysis of the University of Paris VIII, this Review of the Freudian Field is the main organ of diffusion for Lacan's teaching. Ornicar? appears quarterly and, barring exceptions, each number begins with a text by Jacques Lacan. It combines Freudian studies, theoretical papers, clinical cases, and so on. Apart from these areas, and the "Reading Room" section, the "Analyst/s Gallery" presents in every number a profile of one of the leading psychoanalysts of our time. Annual airmail subscription rate for four issues in the USA and Canada: 325 FF.
